

NATIVE AMERICANS AND ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE

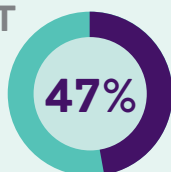

4X

By 2060, the number of American Indian/Alaska Native individuals 65 and older living with dementia is projected to increase FOURFOLD

NATIVE AMERICANS FACE CHALLENGES IN ACCESSING MEDICAL CARE AND SUPPORT:

Fewer than half of Native Americans FEEL CONFIDENT there is access to health care providers who are culturally competent

MORE THAN 2 IN 5 report having EXPERIENCED DISCRIMINATION when seeking health care

40% believe that medical RESEARCH IS BIASED against people of color

LOWER AWARENESS OF ALZHEIMER'S CAN DELAY ACCESS TO CARE

OVER 1/2

believe that significant memory or cognitive losses are a “normal part of aging”.

MORE THAN 1/3

of Native Americans do not believe they will live long enough to develop Alzheimer's or another dementia.

FREE RESOURCES ARE AVAILABLE:

- » alz.org/nativeamericans
- » Our 24/7 Helpline (800.272.3900), offering care consultations in more than 200 languages.
- » Your local Alzheimer's Association® chapter.